

How to protect your business should something happen to you

Are you running a business as a company director or as a partner? Perhaps you are a sole trader. Maybe you are working successfully as a freelancer.

It's only natural to focus on the 'here and now.' But it's also important to think about how you could protect your business if something happened to you.

To find out more about what documents you could put in place to protect your business, read more here or contact Leah Woodnott.

What are the employment rights of a director?

As a company director, you may be well aware of the employment rights of your employees. But are you aware of your own rights as a director?

by Reggie Lloyd

Advice to company directors - know your legal duties

When it comes to running a company or being a company director, are you aware of your legal duties?

by Thomas Emmett

Directors' disqualification - what you need to know

At Birkett Long, we can offer legal support for individuals in Essex who may be facing directors' disqualification

by Kevin Sullivan

look

For some free advice just register

In case you missed it

- New solicitor in the Dispute Resolution team
- Commercial Real Estate solicitor joins Birkett Long
- Who gets to keep the dog?
- Top 10 reasons to review your will

Wednesday Webinars

contract review, growth and exit
3 strategies to consider for your business

04 May

