

Planning first steps

Our clients often come to us during periods of change, seeking our expertise to assess their first steps in a new direction. Our solicitors are well-placed to help you determine what your initial step could be to avoid common pitfalls, allowing you to find firm foundations on which to build securely.

This month, we focus on some challenges businesses may face when charting a new course. Emma Wraight discusses strategies for effectively disposing of old premises to facilitate new ones. Lauren McCarthy provides insights on the specifics related to share purchases and care homes. Tim Field articulates key concerns surrounding GDPR compliance in your business. Finally, Helena Oxley outlines essential information for employers regarding the upcoming changes to sexual harassment laws, ensuring you stay informed and compliant.

Are you planning to dispose of a leasehold or freehold property? Our article provides legal advice to ensure a smooth process. From reviewing title deeds to understanding lease terms and exploring disposal options, we discuss the key steps for a successful transaction.

Find out more here.

By Emma Wraight

Are you considering buying or selling a care home? A share purchase could be the key to a smoother transition – but it comes with its own set of risks. We explain how to navigate these complexities for a successful deal.

Find out more here.

By Lauren McCarthy

Is your business fully compliant with GDPR? Our article provides a detailed guide on safeguarding your organisation while effectively managing personal data. Discover the steps required to protect privacy and avoid potential penalties.

Find out more here.

By Tim Field

Prepare for the upcoming changes in sexual harassment laws effective 26 October 2024. Employers will have a new legal duty to take proactive steps to prevent workplace harassment. Our article outlines essential actions to ensure compliance, safeguard employees, and effectively respond to allegations.

Find out more here.

By Helena Oxley

- Should I Use a Privacy Policy Template Found Online?
- Fire and Rehire Practice Code: Key Points for Employers
- Data Protection Law and Using Biometric Data in Schools
- Death certification reforms

